SECOND ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Elks and Warwick Club to Have Second Annual Contest.

Arrangements for the second annual tournament with the Warwick Club are being completed by the ways and means committee of Portsmouth Lodge, L. P. O. E. The arrangements are practically identical with those of last year. The tournament will open in the Elks' Home, Friday night, March 14, at 8 o'clock. Pitch, cribbage and bowling will be played. The second session of the tournament will be the following Tuesday, March 18, at the headquarters of the Warwick Club. All Elks will meet at the Home at 7.30 o'clock to march in a body to the Warwick Club, where pool and billiards will be played. The tournament will close with pitch, cribbage and bowling at the Home, Wednesday night, March 26. Every member of the lodge should attend in order to further cement the bond of close relationship that exists with the Warwick Club. Visiting Elks are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served in the Home and at the Warwick Club the first two nights of the tournament, and a banquet will be served in the Home the final night.

Elks who want to play on any of the teams in this tournament notify the following team captains: Bowling, John W. Mitchell; pool and billiards, Jackson M. Washburn; pitch, Reginald C. Jones; cribbage, Thomas B. Mitchell.

THIS IS CORRECT.

INTERVENTION A POSSIBILITY

Gomez Ignores Bryan's Protest and Signs Amnesty Bill Despite Note of New Secretary of State

Washington, March 7.—Relations between this government and Cuba have reached a phase which again suggests intervention.

One of the first acts of Col. William L. Bryan as secretary of state, day before yesterday, was to sign a protest against the enactment of the amnesty bill passed by the Cuban Congress and then awaiting the approval of President Gomez.

President Gomez today signed the bill in spite of the energetic protest handed to the Cuban government yesterday by United States Minister Arthur M. Beaupre.

Col. Bryan's protest was made because the act proposed to liberate from the jails and prisons of the island not only all political prisoners, but all criminals. It provided also for granting pardons in advance of trial to all persons who may have been indicted for any criminal offense or who may be indicted for any criminal act during the Gomez administration.

To the Latin-American mind such a sweeping amnesty, it was said in official circles today, would be regarded as reasonable and wholesome.

But to President Wilson, when the facts of the proposed wholesale mockery of justice were explained, the proposition was no less than appalling.

As there had been necessarily many days delay in the state department before the transfer of the government from the Taft administration, Col. Bryan was obliged to make a prompt decision when the matter came before him late on Wednesday. He decided that the protest should be made even if on later investigation it should be shown that the scope of the proposed amnesty was not so dangerous as it now appears to be.

Today the secretary of state remained after the cabinet meeting and conferred with the President in regard to the situation. He was able to lay before Mr. Wilson such facts about the actual application of the amnesty that the imminent peril to Cuba involved in the scheme was at once demonstrated.

It was pointed out by Col. Bryan that the Gomez administration was aiming to avoid investigation of the many activities of various interests and individuals in Cuba, who have secured large and valuable concessions from the government practically without consideration or advantage to the government or to the people of Cuba.

With the sweeping provision that antedates the possible indictment of those who have been guilty of bribery or malfeasance in office and gives a blank petition to every rascal in the island, it would be absolutely impossible for the Menocal government when it comes into control in May, to prosecute even the worst criminals who may have plundered the government.

At first it was regarded as doubtful whether the United States had any right to intervene in a matter that on the face of it was so distinctly domestic to the government of Cuba. An examination of the Platt amendment which is in a sense the magna charta

DEVIL'S BALL STIRS UP KITTERY

Bunny Hug, Turkey Trot and Boston Dip Dance by Participants.

The bunny hug and the turkey trot have dealt old Kittery a stinging swat.

For a Devil's Ball, with the police barred out. Gave Dame Propriety a fatal stab. Kittery, the home of propriety and righteousness, is in the throes of despair. A "Devil's Ball" with bunny hugging, turkey trotting, Boston dipping and all the other kinds of dances was pulled off right in the center of the town recently, and the chief of police and the chairman of the board of selectmen were barred out. Yes, sir—and it's set the village by its ears, by heck.

Never in the history of the quaint old town, where everybody goes to bed with the sun, has anything so stirred up the residents as has the Devil's Ball.

Only 100 persons were present. When it became noised around during the evening that the naughty dance that have become popular with the young people of the country had invaded the sacred precincts of Kittery, complaints were made to Chief of Police Deneill, and he with Chairman of the Selectmen, James Philbrick, went to Westworth Hall. They were politely but firmly told to mind their own business; that the hall had been hired for a private party, and that their presence there was not wanted.

Chagrined, the two officers of the law returned home, shaking their heads, and today the town is split as to whether it is right to bunny hug and turkey trot; whether it is an invention of the gentleman with the horns, cloven hoofs and forked tail, and the argument is likely to end in a bitter warfare between the two factions.

Kittery Republicans Make Caucus Nominations.

The Republicans of Kittery held their caucus on Friday evening, about 200 being present. The following ticket was named to be supported at the annual town meeting next Tuesday: Moderator, Hon. Horace Mitchell; Town Clerk, Clarence M. Prince; Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor, Frank G. Getchell, Harry B. Cook, Elmer J. Burnham; Treasurer, George D. Boniter; Auditor, Calvin H. Dunbar; Superintendent of School Committee for three years, Emory H. Currier; Town Agent, John H. Foye; Road Commissioners, Walter I. Fernald, Charles Bechell, Franklin H. Haley; Constables, Samuel H. Hodgdon, Charles W. Chapman, Jackson G. Irish, Oscar T. Clark.

A citizens caucus was held at Grange Hall at which about twelve persons were present.

Corporal Earl A. Guenther of the marine guard was arrested this morning on the government reservation on extradition papers by Deputy Sheriff Morris Leach of Elliot, and turned over to Sheriff Spaulney, and was arraigned before Judge Adams immediately on his arrival on this side of the river. He was charged with breaking and entering and the larceny of watches from the shop of Benjamin Blankenberg on Penitentiary street on February 12. He was not represented by counsel and waived the reading of the writ and pleaded not guilty. The court found probable cause and he was ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $300 for the April term of superior court. He failed to secure bonds and went to jail.

WILSON FILLS THREE OFFICES

Roper and Blakeslee Assistant Postmasters General.—Neill for Bureau of Labor Statistics

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson had settled deep enough in office today to indicate pretty clearly some of the things that may be expected of him in the near future. "He made no public announcements of policy, but there were a few developments that seemed to show the trend of things."

The President told visitors that he was inclined to favor the plan of the House leaders to confine the special session of Congress to tariff revision. He indicated that while he did not at this time look forward to the passage of a currency reform measure at the special session, such a bill might be whipped into shape in the House while the Senate was wrestling with the tariff. This bill could be brought up immediately after Congress met in regular session in December. The President endorsed the policy of democratic economy favored by Chairman Fitzgerald of the House appropriations committee and other leaders.

His attention was called to the need for the passage of a sundry civil appropriation bill at the special session. This bill was vetoed by former President Taft because of its provision practically exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law. Friends familiar with the President's attitude toward kindred questions declared that unless it could be shown that the paragraph to which the former President objected was not class legislation he would use his influence to prevent such a provision being inserted in the new bill.

President Wilson took a firm position. It was said, behind Mr. Fitzgerald for rigid economy. It is known that he looked apprehensively from Trenton at the appropriations of the last Congress. Mr. Wilson had before him in New Jersey a situation in which labor organizations of the state, promoted by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, objected vigorously to one of the "seven sisters" anti-trust laws, on the ground that they restricted labor unions from making agreements with corporations or individuals as to wages, hours, etc. Gompers suggested that the bill be amended but Mr. Wilson insisted that such an amendment would be class legislation forbidden under New Jersey's constitution. He contended, too, that New Jersey courts had not and could not include labor unions within the scope of corporation regulations. Federal legislation he told the labor leaders, might be different.

Announcement of three important appointments was made today. Charles P. Neill, who was commissioner of labor under Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, was nominated commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, which will take the place of the old labor bureau in compliance with the act creating the new department of labor. Mr. Neill was re-nominated commissioner of labor by President Taft several months ago, but he failed of confirmation, and under the law has been out of office since Feb. 1.

PICTURES WERE TOO REALISTIC

Boy Shoots at Lion and Afterward Has Punishment Inflicted by Mother.

Hartford, Ct., March 7.—A youthful lion hunter made his debut at the exhibition of the Paul Rainey African hunt pictures here last night, with the net result that James C. Havermain, aged 15, is eating his meals from the mannequin at his home today. The Hartford police are the possessors of a 22 calibre revolver and Doc Pierce, the Rainey lecturer has among his effects a large moving picture screen punctured by three 22 calibre bullet holes. Master Havermain's present indisposition is due to a local application of maternal discipline by Mrs. Havermain in the presence of the police after she had been informed of her son's warlike manifestations in the theatre the night before.

The boy, it appears had seen the pictures of the lion hunts before, and fired with the ambition to be a second Paul Rainey, armed himself with a revolver and real bullets and bought a seat for last night's performance.

Under Doc Pierce's fluent narrative the entertainment ran along without incident until the views of the hunt itself were thrown on the screen and the dogs and lions were locked in a death struggle before the enthralled audience. Suddenly in the intense silence of the theatre, a shot rang out, and the screen quivered, as a bullet tore through it into the anatomy of one of the pictured "kings of the jungle." Before Doc Pierce could get his breath there was another and another. The excitement was intense. Ushers ran down from the rear. The lecturer vaulted over the footlights and came

Three Veteran Ball Players Whose Brilliancy Father Time has not Tarnished All Ready for Another Hard Campaign

Pittsburgh, March 7.—As in the case every year, a number of old time faces will be missing from the baseball ranks in the big league when the season opens, men who have helped to make base ball history, but who have showed up to such an extent that they have had to give way to younger players. The average diamond star lasts about ten years in the majors, but there are at least four great stars whose hater has not dimmed. They are Babe Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Larry Lajoie of the Cleveland

Naps, Bobby Wallace of the St. Louis Browns and Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants. Wagner has been in the big circuit fourteen years and right now is called the greatest player in the National League. He has had a grand year in 1912 and expects another this season. Wallace has been in fast company longer than any other player, and there are few men who can hold down the short field position better than the Browns' veteran. Wallace played the ball last year and is ready to duplicate his performance of 1912. Injuries laid up Lajoie part of last season, but he believes he has fully recovered and is ready for another hard campaign. Last season Mathewson's performances during the pennant race and in the box during the world series are still fresh memories of the fans. Matty is ready to pitch as good ball as he has in former years. Whether these four great veterans will go back and give way to younger men can be answered only when the season is over.

FIGHTING THE BOOK TRUST

Washington, March 7.—Opposing attorneys appeared before the Supreme Court today to argue whether there is a "book trust."

The argument was the outcome of a suit brought by a New York department store to enjoin the American Publishers' Association of 75 per cent of the books in the United States, and the American Booksellers' Association said to be composed of a large majority of the wholesale and retail booksellers of the country, from the enforcement of certain contracts, which it was contended, prohibit the selling of books to dealers who sell them to the public at less than an established price.

The New York state court held the contracts valid in regard to copyrighted books.

TO MAKE CLOTHES BUTTONS

The Morley Button Factory are soon to develop another branch of work in their factory here. At the present time the principal output has been shoe buttons of the various grades and a very few clothes buttons, but now the latter is to be developed very extensively.

New machinery for different sizes of buttons are being perfected and it is figured to get going in this kind of work in a few weeks.

Owing to the great run on button shoes, and especially the high button with from twelve to sixteen to a shoe, the demand for shoe buttons has been so great that the factory has had to run night shifts, but now there is a tendency to slack up.

Within five days it is expected that the buttoned craft will be raised and propelled to the shore on pontoons from there she will be floated to a local shipbuilding yard where she will be overhauled preparatory to her last cruise along the great lakes ports from Erie to Duluth at the time of the Perry centennial celebration this summer. It has taken three months to lift the Niagara. The original contract promised completion in thirty days. Bad weather conditions caused the delays.

Rathel went forty yards in 23 seconds flat, while the Illinois Athletic Club relay team swam 100 yards for a new world's mark of 1:17. Heimer and Rathel belong to the Illinois Athletic Club. Only local men competed.

New machinery for different sizes of buttons are being perfected and it is figured to get going in this kind of work in a few weeks.

Owing to the great run on button shoes, and especially the high button with from twelve to sixteen to a shoe, the demand for shoe buttons has been so great that the factory has had to run night shifts, but now there is a tendency to slack up.

Within five days it is expected that the buttoned craft will be raised and propelled to the shore on pontoons from there she will be floated to a local shipbuilding yard where she will be overhauled preparatory to her last cruise along the great lakes ports from Erie to Duluth at the time of the Perry centennial celebration this summer. It has taken three months to lift the Niagara. The original contract promised completion in thirty days. Bad weather conditions caused the delays.

FIRST LIQUOR SEIZURE UNDER NEW FEDERAL LAW

Whiskey and Beer Shipped From Texas and Missouri Confiscated by Federal Authorities.

Lawton, Okla., March 7.—Invoking the authority of the Webb law, prohibiting wholesale liquor shipments in to "dry" states, officers yesterday confiscated forty-three cases of whiskey and sixteen cases of beer which had been shipped to local "dealers" by firms in Fort Worth, Tex., and Kansas City, Mo. The consignment was found at the depot.

ENTER THE HOBBLE CAR

(From the New York Mail.)

Even the hobble skirt has its uses. It is giving us a sane and safe street car—one that can be entered without a step-ladder, or a block and tackle to hoist up the passengers.

The car with its step eighteen inches above the street level never had any excuse to offer. It was an architectural offence perpetrated by designers who overlooked completely the fundamental requisite of easy ingress and egress.

There never has been any mechanical

FLOCKS OF JOB SEEKERS

Members of National Committee Beseiged by Petitioners.

Washington, March 6.—Members of the democratic national committee, including Chairman McCombs, remained in Washington today, following the organization meeting of Wednesday, devoting most of their time to the pleas of office-seekers who are flocking to Washington on every train.

Nearly every national committeeman has his hands full, and the state central committee chairmen from many states also are here to impress upon the administration heads the claims of men entitled to shares of political patronage that are to be distributed in the political reorganization of the government.

The announcement of President Wilson that all office-seekers must consult with heads of departments, except when invited to confer with him personally, resulted today in a general push for various cabinet officials, though national committeemen were beset to make appointments for many men who have requests to file for recognition.

Chairman McCombs, before leaving the city, reiterated his desire to have the national party organization pushed to perfection in all sections of the country. To this end the permanent headquarters to be established by the national committee in Washington, directed by Thomas J. Pence, will keep constantly in touch with state, city and precinct organizations.

AMERICANS ELUDE INDIAN CAPTORS

Willemstad, Curacao, March 6.—The two American mining engineers, Guy N. Borge and William L. Taylor of Duluth, Minn., who were carried off by Maracaibo Indians in the interior of Venezuela while making petroleum explorations in the vicinity of Lake Maracaibo, succeeded in eluding their captors after a sharp fight, according to a message received here today from Maracaibo. Taylor was engaged by one of the Indians in a hand-to-hand encounter and was forced to kill his assailant. The two engineers lost their entire equipment and are now returning to Maracaibo.

It is announced that the Venezuelan government will probably send a punitive expedition into the district occupied by the Indians in order to prevent further excesses.

Sulzer Rebuked by the Bosses.

Once upon a time, and a most appropriate time it was, too, a gallant Wisconsin commander of the famous Iron brigade in the Civil war period, in his earnest espousal of Grover Cleveland's cause against the late David B. Hill and others of that ilk, remarked, tersely, "We love him for the enemies he has made." So thus early in the administration of Governor Sulzer, of New York, many of the best citizens of the state ignoring party lines are inclined to repeat General Bragg's famous declaration, applying it to Governor Sulzer. Nobody who knows Sulzer, in or out of Congress, doubts for a moment the honesty of his intentions in public life. These, at the same time, concede the possibility, if not probability, of executive mistakes, and are not disposed to deify him at any time, especially thus early in his administration, but in his recent locking of horns with Tammany's Murphy, as well as other self-styled democratic leaders, he will have the enthusiastic support of every self-respecting New Yorker. While Sulzer's may not be the most pleasant visage to contemplate one sees grim determination in every feature and abundant physical resources to back up every executive act. In Washington, the next day after Wilson's inauguration, Charles F. Murphy, the big Tammany chieftain, sneeringly referred to Governor Sulzer as New York's democratic leader, and the next day after that William R. Hearst, the gentleman of the Independence League persuasion, is said to have also publicly repudiated Sulzer. If New York's governor will boldly grapple with his opportunities, and relieve the Empire State of the graft, and other odium now clinging to it, he will clearly be eligible for a niche in the Hall of Fame.

An Honor to the South.

We are too familiar, altogether, with the discreditable exhibitions of two Southern governors in handling the Negro question—Blease of South Carolina and Vardaman, who was unfortunately promoted from the governorship of Mississippi to the United States Senate,—therefore it is positively refreshing to turn to the record already made by Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, the State which nurtured the first capital of the Southern Confederacy. Governor O'Neal is none the less a true Southerner because he heartily dissents from the race hatred ideas and policy of Blease and Vardaman and hastens to assure Dr. Booker T. Washington of his hearty sympathy in the grand work he is doing for his people and for the sovereign State of Alabama. Good for Governor O'Neal and may he prove to be the beginning of the heaven to heaven the whole Southern lump.

Farmers Were Indignant.

In making an address recently in a Massachusetts city a clergyman who seems to need another pull at the nursing bottle, declared that New England farmers "lived dreary and sunless lives, etc." As the late Artemus Ward would say, this is a "goak." If the minister in question would only visit almost any New England neighborhood in the winter season he would have the time of his life—if he staid long enough. On one fact he could lay his last cent that, evening after evening, come storm, come cold, he would have as good a time as if he remained in the city. What with straw rides over the sparkling snow to Grange meeting or spelling bee, with plenty of pumpkin pie, doughnuts, big red apples and cider on the side he would quickly learn what rational, healthful enjoyment is. Sunless lives indeed for our farmers and their interesting families!

Defacing Gettysburg Monuments.

No punishment is too great for the vandal, or vandals, who embarked, it would seem, upon the wholesale disfigurement of the historic monuments and markers on the Gettysburg battlefield, and if captured the jury should consist of Civil war veterans who would see to it that proper punishment was promptly meted out. It has been intimated that this work of destruction was wrought by a disappointed seeker after a job in this beautiful reservation, set apart sacredly as a memorial to the gallant men who offered themselves a sacrifice upon their country's altar during those memorable July days fifty years ago. Whatever the motive the fact remains that as an act of sacrilege it is without a parallel in history and no stone should be left unturned in the endeavor to locate the fiend or fiends responsible for this wanton performance.

"Brother Joe" On Deck.

About a month ago the arrival in Washington from Nashville, Tenn., of Joseph R. Wilson, a brother of President Wilson, was chronicled, and it was given out that he was being groomed for the secretaryship of the Senate. It was also said that the then President-elect had given the plan his hearty approval as it would bring him, by proxy as it were, into instant contact with the Senate in each executive session. It was also President Wilson and Secretary Tumulty as They Appeared at Work on Their New Jobs.

Photograph, 1913, by American Press Association.

Quickly after the day of inaugural ceremonies President Wilson got right down to the business of government. So did his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. President Wilson let it be known from the start that he intended, if possible, to work nine hours a day and that he would not be interrupted by office seekers. Above, at top, is a picture of the president as he looked on the first day at his desk in the executive office and at bottom is a picture of Secretary Tumulty, also sitting for the first time at his desk in the new job.

said that Senator Lea of Tennessee was hard at work getting his brother senators into effective alignment in Brother Joe's interest. Until yesterday the matter rested, and it was thought that Joseph had been taken out of the running. Not so, apparently, for we are informed, more or less authoritatively, that Joseph R. is still in the field, with no notion of leaving it. The advantages accruing to the President from the presence of his brother in the Senate executive sessions would, in our judgment, be offset by disadvantages obvious to every thinking person. It's all well enough for the President to give his brother a ripe plum if he wants it, but the Senate secretaryship is another matter entirely.

For National Conservation.

While this paper has not been in sympathy with everything advocated by Gifford Pinchot, although he has labored early and late, and most effectively in general, it must be conceded, in behalf of national conservation, we heartily indorse the work he is doing to prevent the national forests, now under national control, from being parceled out among at least fifteen states, without one substantial argument in favor of such a move. It is not generally known that a measure to give the national forests and public lands to fifteen or twenty western states was actually introduced but deservedly defeated in the sixty-second Congress and that several new bills, with the same purpose as a nucleus, are already on their way to the next Congress. There is a substantial reason for the ceaseless activity, henceforward, of the opponents of the scheme to promote, more or less directly, the nefarious schemes of land grabbers with the aid of mercenary congressmen. The men, "fellows of the baser sort," who are urging upon Congress this giving over to western states of our national forests and public lands have but one object in view, the ultimate acquisition of these more or less desirable properties by themselves. Having been beaten, apparently hopelessly, by the enactment of legislation closing to them numberless avenues for fraud they hope now, with the aid of western governors and in the manner above mentioned, to get possession of these public properties in stealthy Steve fashion. In his efforts to prevent this wholesale indirect theft Mr. Pinchot's work will be most effectively supplemented by those congressmen who are beyond the reach of financial or purely political arguments.

CONDEMN FREE CANAL USE FOR AMERICANS

Congressmen Stevens of Minnesota and Sims of Tennessee Assail Action of Congress.

The action of Congress in granting free passage to American canal boats in the Panama Canal was condemned in addresses presented last evening before the Traffic Club of New England in its banquet at the Coppley-Pearce Hotel, Boston. The speakers were: Congressman E. C. Stevens of Minnesota, republican, and T. W. Sims of Tennessee, democrat.

More than 600 members of the club and guests were present.

George W. Wright, Edwin M. Whitney, Benjamin W. Butler, Charles E. Mayer, George M. Thurston, Calvin Austin, A. H. Andrews, Professor Bruce Wyman, J. H. Hustis, George Hutchinson, Ellsworth Simon, S. E. Winslow, Seward W. Jones, A. F. Mack, W. H. Bullard, W. M. Emerson, Sam W. Manning and W. C. Brown.

Congressman Stevens spoke of the fact that there was a diversity of opinion as to the advisability of admitting American canalwise boats to free tolls.

He condemned such action saying, "It is true that our money has built the canal and paid for the zone, and yet a residuary interest remains in Panama which is recognized and protected by our obligations and terms of our treaties. We expended money under definite obligations and stipulations as to what should be done by ourselves and others in the use of the property. We have no right now, morally or legally, to rescind those obligations, or to refuse to make them effective, or to arbitrate honest differences which may arise over the construction of the agreements. It will handicap us in the eyes of our fellow men and impair our influence among the nations of the earth, diminish our self-respect, that we even hesitate about either removing the clause of the controversy or submitting it to an impartial tribunal for judicial consideration."

Congressman Sims said that he should sincerely regret it if the United States should even make it necessary to arbitrate the question as to free tolls. He considered that it was a question that the country should settle for itself, and in justice to the country and its policies that it should settle it in accordance with its treaties.

He said that if the country is in favor of granting free tolls it might just as well now and grant free transportation over the Panama railroad which it now owns. It might, he said, build a transcontinental railroad line and carry freight at cost, a thing which it has power to do if it so wills.

He said that free tolls were wrong in every particular.

He said: "I hope and believe that our new President will at once ask Congress to remove from its records the only blot ever placed there and repeal the free tolls act. It ought not to be a party question. It is very doubtful if the canal will ever pay, and the country should receive all the revenue that it justly deserves in order to maintain it."

of Cuba, made it quite clear, however, that there was ample ground for action by this government. The Platt amendment, so called because it was drawn and offered by the late Senator O. H. Platt of Connecticut, was incorporated in the Cuban constitution in compliance with the demands of this government. Later it was included in the treaty between the United States and the republic of Cuba.

In the third article of the Platt amendment it is provided that the United States may intervene in Cuba for any one of three reasons. The first is to preserve Cuban independence; the second, "maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty," and the third to carry out the terms of the Paris treaty by which Cuba gained her independence.

It is contended by officials that this government has the right under the second ground to insist that the criminals who have been convicted, and those who might be convicted, shall not be turned loose on society, because they would become a menace to life and property.

There have been many appeals to the President and to the state department to prevent the execution of the amnesty plan. The New York Life Insurance Company has placed before Secretary Bryan a statement in regard to one case that comes under the proposed amnesty, and has asked that this government take steps to protect the people of Cuba from the evilly designed legislation which is so nearly consummated.

The New York Life Insurance Company was defrauded a few years ago in an aggravated case of insurance swindling involving a murder. In consequence of this swindle, three men were sent to prison for long terms. The amount involved was $8000 and the company spent $96,000 to prosecute the swindlers and murderers. There are several other cases similar, but not so aggravated.

Now that President Gomez, on the eve of retirement from office has declared the right of this government to interfere in such a matter and signed the bill in spite of the protest, President Wilson has the alternative of authorizing a third intervention by military force in Cuba or of demanding, that, pending diplomatic inquiry in regard to the matter, the act of amnesty be suspended and no prisoners liberated and the act promptly repealed by the same legislative body that enacted it.

It is certain that the President will proceed just as far as he can without he resort to the employment of an armed force in Cuba, but it is claimed by men in a position to know that it is none the less certain that he will compel obedience to the demand of this government.

The Cuban minister here, Senor Marin-Rivero, late today, before he had earned of the signing of the amnesty bill by President Gomez, sent a cable to Havana protesting against the measure. This act was on his own initiative. It was said at the legation, because of the minister's personal objection to the measure.

The minister called at the state department today, accompanied by William Patterson, assistant secretary of state of Cuba; and Dr. Paul Des Veraine, law professor in the University of Havana, to arrange for a call on President Wilson to extend Cuba's greeting. They saw Secretary Bryan, and it is believed that they took the opportunity to discuss the amnesty bill. The Cuban minister's cable of protest followed his visit to the state department.

BIG DOLLS FREE ONLY FEW DAYS

Demand Has Been Strong—Take Action Today for Some Little Girl.

This is almost the last day for getting one of those beautiful 21 inch standing dolls that local druggists are giving away. That there has been a steady call for the magnificent dolls is not to be wondered at. The dolls are handsome and every little girl who sees one wants it for her own.

As long as the supply lasts the local dealers will continue to give away the big dolls and their three sets of costumes to every purchaser of Minard's Liniment, any size bottle.

After the dolls are gone if the dealers have any liniment left the dolls may still be obtained by mailing a wrapper from a Minard's Liniment bottle with a dime or five two cent stamps for postage to the Minard's Liniment Mfg. Co., Framingham, Mass.

Minard's Liniment sells for 25c, 50c and $1.00 a bottle. It is an old-established remedy having been prescribed in private practice by Dr. Levi Minard more than half a century ago. It has earned its title "King of Pain." There is hardly any pain that attacks the human body that Minard's Liniment will not almost instantly subdue. It conquers aches of all kinds, weary feet, sore hands, deep seated colds, headaches, neuralgia, lumbago, and pains due to injuries.

Sore, irritated and inflamed bronchial tubes, difficult breathing, sore throat, these and similar ills need not be feared if you have Minard's Liniment handy. Pure and antiseptic, powerful and soothing, it is the most powerful and clean-to-use remedy and it should be on every medicine shelf.

If you find the dolls are all gone, when you call today buy the liniment for its own sake. The manufacturers will refund your money if you are disappointed in its merits.

But as long as the dolls last they can be obtained free at all the following stores:

HEADACHY, BILIOUS,
UPSET? "CASCARETS"

Bilious Headache Means Bowels are Clogged and Liver Stagnant

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleansing up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver, and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough, Cascarets—they work while you sleep.

The Phoebe held a very pleasant business session and social last evening at the Second Christian church, the hostess being Mrs. Willard Locke who was assisted by the President, Mrs. Frank Locke. At the conclusion of the business session the time was devoted to games and music, and a delicious lunch was served. The tables were prettily set and decorated with lavender and each one was presented a pretty souvenir in the form of an

RAILROAD NOTES

Railroad men note a decided improvement in the Boston & Maine yards here and at Kittery since the removal of the most head signals at Green street, Nobles Island bridge, Dover Junction and Kittery Junction.

Following the Boston & Maine the Pennsylvania railroad has adopted a new set of rules for giving passengers and the public immediate information to the cause of train delays. Conductors are instructed to tell passengers how long delays are likely to last, and if for any length of time advise passengers as to best means to proceeding on their journey.

The New York Central has ordered from the General Electric Co., ten electric locomotives of a new type, the most powerful in the world.

A sub committee of the Joint committee on railroads of the Massachusetts legislature has prepared a bill to be submitted on Monday to the full committee designed to change the name, enlarge the membership and increase the powers of the board of railroad commissioners.

The proposed draft increases the number of commissioners from three to five, raises their salaries, and gives them supervision of the telephone and telegraph companies, now dealing with the highway commission.

The crossing tenders, freight handlers and station baggage masters received their increase of 15 per cent in wages on Friday.

Playman William Downing of the Vaughan street crossing is confined to his home in Greenland and Frank Vaukner is acting in his place.

The extra yard switcher which has been off for several weeks owing to lack of work in the coal docks has been put back.

FUNERAL OF
JUDGE MITCHELL

The funeral of the late Judge John M. Mitchell of the Superior Court was held from the St. John's church, Concord, on Friday. The church contained a concourse of people in all walks of life from all parts of the State.

A solemn high mass in the presence of the bishop, with a eulogy, the latter being a decided departure from custom, was the church's last tribute to the deceased.

The citizens who honored his memory by attending the impressive ceremony included the governor of New Hampshire, all branches of the judiciary, members of the bar from every county, scores of city and state officials, clergymen of many denominations, and representatives of New Hampshire's largest financial and philanthropic institutions. The throng taxed the capacity of the ample church, and by its representative character gave evidence of the many interests affected by the sudden termination of Judge Mitchell's useful career.

Monsignor Eugene M. O'Callaghan, vicar general of the diocese, was the celebrant of the mass. Rev. Martin H. Egan, of Keene, a former curate of St. John's, was deacon, and the subdeacon was Rev. D. J. O'Brien of South Berwick, Me., rector of the churches at York Beach and York Harbor, to whose support Judge Mitchell contributed substantially. Rev.
Fr. William Pendergast of Concord was master of ceremonies, assisted by Rev. J. J. Buckley, assistant chancellor of the diocese.

Chancellor Thomas M. O'Leary of Manchester, in an eloquent eulogy, summarized the character and personal qualities of Mr. Mitchell, speaking particularly of his able and gratuitous service as legal adviser of the Catholic church in this state.

The Rt. Rev. George A. Guertin, bishop of Manchester, pronounced the absolution. He was attended by Rev.
John J. Lyons and Rev. T. J. E. Devoys as chaplains.

Also among the clergy present were Rev. Thomas E. Reilly of Dover, a native and former curate of Concord,
Rev. John E. Egan, D.D., of Exeter,
Rev. John P. O'Sullivan of Lancaster, Rev.
Francis K. Lyons of South Manchester, Rev. John J. Murphy of Manchester, Rev. Charles Ledy of Manchester, Rev. Thomas C. Laughlin of Hooksett, and Rev. William H. Sweeney of Lakeport.

The local banks with which Judge Mitchell was officially connected were closed during the funeral, and all their clerks attended the ceremony.

The honorary bearers were Governor Belcher, Justices Parsons, Young, Walker, Blagham, and Peaslee of the supreme court; Justices Pike, Chamberlain and Plummer of the superior court;
Gen. Frank S. Streeter, Josiah E. Pershall and Fred N. Ladd.

The active bearers were D. E. Murphy, Thomas W. Cragg, Dr. D. E. Sullivan, John H. Haynes, John Hickey and John J. McNulty.

The delegation from the Concord Council, Knights of Columbus, was composed of Grand Knight Eugene O'Neil, Warren Peckham, Robert F.
Keane, Oliver J. Polson, Timothy M.
Casey, Jeremiah Murphy, William F.
Spelman and Edw. J. Gallagher.

Comparative Digestibility
of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with
phosphate powder:

68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers.

EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE KILLS MANY MEN

Part of Crew of U. S. Collier Jason Killed and Collier Damaged.

Baltimore, March 7.—An explosion of dynamite, for reaching and disastrous in its results, occurred in the lower harbor of Baltimore this morning when more than 200 tons of the explosive, being loaded on board the British steamer Alum Chine, blew up.

The known dead number seven men of these four belonged to the crew of the Alum Chine, and three were on board the United States naval collier Jason. Twenty-nine other men on the collier and the greater part of the crew of the Alum Chine were injured.

Six of the crew of the tug Atlantic lying alongside the Alum Chine, were killed and the tug practically destroyed.

BARGE WRECKED IN BOSTON HARBOR

Boston, March 7.—In the furor of the northwesterly gale which swept the coast last night, the barge Whittman, was wrecked in Broad Sound, and her crew of three men narrowly escaped death.

The Whittman was the stern barge of a tow of three which the ocean tug Fred E. Richards was bringing from New York, the others being the Luzon loaded with coal from Norfolk, and the H & L Co. No. 1, with a cargo of fertilizer from New York for Blocton Springs. All the way across the bay the tow was facing the gale. At 10 p. m. when coming through Broad Sound, the Whittman swung to leeward and struck on Devils Back, on the port side of Broad Sound channel.

Capt. Miller of the Richards said that the heavy towing hawser parted at the instant the barge hit the ledge, although some of the men on the barge declared the line parted before she struck. The Richards towed the other two barges in the Deer Island anchorage at Quarantine, and immediately returned to the aid of the Whittman.

On account of the falling tide it was impossible to attempt to float the vessel, and Capt. Miller bent his energies to saving the lives of the three men on board. The heavy gale it extremely perilous for the tug to attempt to get near the barge, as she was in danger of striking on the ledge and placing the lives of the 14 men on the tug in jeopardy. For nearly four hours Capt. Miller worked the tug about the stranded barge, before he finally succeeded in pushing her nose up against the stern of the Whittman. The three men lost no time in jumping to the deck of the tug, which brought them to the city at 2.30 this morning.

Capt. Miller of the Richards made an official report of the disaster to W. E. Healey, the local manager of the Rockport and Rockland Line Company, owner of the tug, and later filed a statement with the United States steamboat inspectors.

The Whittman was owned by the Deagan Contracting Company of New York. She was a wooden vessel of 100 tons net and 477 tons gross. She was built at Bath, Me., in 1901, and was formerly owned by the Staples Coal Company. Last summer she was employed in transporting cargoes to the Cape Cod Canal. The vessel was 162.4 feet long, 34 feet beam and 10.4 feet depth of hold.

The tug Mearns, with a representative of the Boat Wrecking Company and the captain of the Whittman on board, went down to the scene of the wreck after daylight to attempt to save the vessel, but it was found that she had broken in two and in a hopeless wreck. She will probably be a total loss. She was loaded with about 2000 tons of phosphate rock for the American Agricultural Chemical Company, and was going to Weymouth to discharge.

The Whittman lies on the ledge, head to west with her bow well out of water and her stern just awash. She is well out of the channel and does not interfere with navigation.

THREE WORKMEN DROWNED

Wilmington, Del., March 7. Three workmen are missing and were probably drowned yesterday when a pile-driver, on which they were engaged in raising a sunken barge near Ship John Lighthouse, in the middle of the Delaware Bay, capsized in a 70-mile gale.

When the pile-driver sank it took a yawl with it, removing the only means of escape for the workmen.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Concord, March 7.—Two programs for next week were presented to the legislature yesterday by Representative Couch of Concord. One of them provided for the practical adjournment of the legislature until March 18, except for committee meetings and the formal sessions to cover the law. The other called for no sessions on Tuesday, "Town Meeting Day," but working sessions and ballots that count for United States senator on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The first plan was favored by the Democrats and endorsed by Representative Abner of Concord, floor leader, but the majority of the members favored the second, which was adopted.

The senate yesterday completed New Hampshire's ratification of the income tax amendment to the national constitution by concurring in the house joint resolution to that effect. The senate also joined with the house in changing the name of Hixty Titty pond and authorizing municipal forests.

The house passed ten of its own bills, among them one providing for a new ward in Manchester, to be set off from ward 9 on the West Side; for nominating direct primary candidates by petition, exempting from taxation money loaned to school districts, giving cities and towns the right to establish a curfew law, and one providing for the forfeiture of water charters where the work is not begun within six years.

The bills killed included one providing for a state road from Manchester to the Massachusetts state line at Salem, near Hookingham park, and for a new "short" lobster law.

With thirty-eight ballots already recorded for United States senator in the legislature, the deadlock is approaching the figures reached in the last contest of a similar nature in the political history of the state, the memorable contest which made the legislature of 1883 famous.

A number of those who took part in that contest are still active in the political affairs of the state, and they remember that it was not until the 45th ballot that the name of the winner appeared in the list of candidates, that of Austin P. Pike of Franklin, who was declared elected on the 43rd ballot, and who died in Washington after having served a little more than half of his term.

The late Senator Edward H. Rollins and the late Harry Bingham were the principal opponents at the opening of the contest. Rollins being the candidate of the Republicans and Bingham of the Democrats. Others who took part in the contest at times holding the balance of power, were Senator James W. Patterson Gen. Gilman Mason, Congressman Aaron P. Stevens, Mason W. Tappan, Gov. Chase, H. Bell, James B. Briggs and Judge William S. Ladd, 47 of these men now being dead.

There was no material difference in the deadlock of 1883 in that it caused no vacancy in the senate from the fact that the sessions of the legislature were then held in the summer and a choice was reached in August for the term beginning the next March.

NO PRESENT CHANGE IN FOREIGN POLICIES

Washington, March 7.—Indications that no immediate or sweeping changes in the foreign policy of the United States are in contemplation were afforded today when Secretary Bryan without much qualification approved the letters and instructions by wire that went out to the American representatives abroad in countries where striking events are happening. It was inferred by the officials of lesser rank than the secretary that President Wilson intends to make a careful study of all the data presented to him by Secretary Bryan before making any radical changes in existing policies.

It became known today that without abating this government's claim to the right to maintain an efficient army patrol along the Mexican border, the new administration intends to use every proper means to avoid friction with the Mexicans across the line.

In line with the disposition to advise President Wilson and Secretary Bryan of the precise conditions along the border, Brig. General Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the southern department of the army, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, was ordered to make a tour of inspection.

SOUTH ELIOT

Rev. John F. Longland of Hampton, N. H., will conduct the services at the Advent Christian church next Sunday, March 8.

COL. BARTLETT STATES HIS POSITION

Col. John H. Bartlett of this city on Friday issued a statement of his position in the senatorial race. He said:

"The contest for the election of a United States senator has come to a point where I believe it is extremely vital to the best interests of the state of New Hampshire that every man who believes in the general principle of protection, with a tariff, although revised downward yet nevertheless revised in the interests of prosperity and the pay envelope of the laborer, should bury his personal ambitions and strive to bury factional differences and unite with loyalty and unflinching courage and report to secure the election of a senator who will carry out this purpose. The prosperity of our state and of our industries is absolutely vital to our moral and social progress. One of the first demands of society is that the laborer shall have a job. It is to us that the entire country looks for a man to champion and advocate the necessities and demands of the manufacturer and the laborer as well, and we have all learned that the farmer and other occupations share the prosperity of the manufacturing centers."

The Republicans in the legislature have named a committee to confer with the Progressive members of the legislature, with a view of determining, if possible, what man in New Hampshire can come nearest to uniting these two parties which, believe practically alike and substantially as above stated on the question of protection.

While I know there are many men in the legislature who believe that I am most available at this time to unite the Republicans and Progressives in the above end, and while I can emit perhaps nearer to bringing about such a result, yet it seems eminently fair to all other men and aspirants for this high position, also fair to the committee or committees and to the members of the Republican and Progressive parties that I should absolutely and unqualifiedly release, so far as I am able, all voters in the legislature from voting for me, so that in the consideration of the question I may be placed absolutely on an equality with all other men who may be considered. This I do wholly for the public good and in the interests of the general cause as above stated. I am willing to lay aside my personal ambition and desire in order that the cause may triumph. There are many good men who have been voted for and who have not been voted for who should be given the same consideration that I am to be given, and if after due consideration of my own availability on an absolute equality with the availability and fitness of every other man, it shall appear that someone else can better lead the cause, I will cheerfully and heartily do all I can to elect such person, and if after such consideration it shall be thought that I may better serve the cause, I am willing to take it up vigorously and push it honorably to the end.

I believe my positions on other issues are comparatively well understood, but if we can unite at all in successful opposition, I believe the above stated object of ensuring prosperity to New Hampshire, to New Hampshire industries and laborers is the common issue upon which the union must be based.

JOHN H. BARTLETT.

A GOOD LOSER

Under the "Dome" in the Concord

Monitor appears the following:

"There was quite a lot of oratory in the house on Wednesday, and most of it was furnished by Mr. Callahan of Keene, who never is at a loss for words, or for a voice for which to send them to the uttermost ends of the hall. He was on the losing side three times Wednesday, but that did not discourage him a bit. Like William H. Taft, for whom he sounded a trumpet of praise in one of his speeches, he is a good loser."

FIRE AT NEWBURYPORT

Newburyport, March 7.—A fire broke out tonight in Music Hall, about 11.20 while a dance was in progress. The fire started in the back part of the hall. There were no fatalities, but a number of persons were taken to the hospital.

FINDS MRS. MILLS' CHECK IN STREET

But Police Think Saloonkeeper's Discovery May Be Hoax

Chicago, March 7.—A small black purse containing a check for $15,500 on the State Bank of Elkhart, Ind., made payable to H. L. Stevens, and signed "Mrs. Babel Mills," was found on the sidewalk at North Clark street and Centre avenue last night by William J. Dikos, a saloonkeeper at 2100 North Halsted street.

Dikos turned the check over to the police. It is dated March 1, 1913, the date on which Mrs. Mills now at Kansas City, claims to have lost or been in some manner deprived of $15,000 in thousand dollar bills.

While the find appeared on the surface to be genuine, the police could not disregard the theory of a hoax. This theory was strengthened by the fact that Mrs. Mills has no account at the Elkhart bank; that she and Stevens apparently have had no business relations and by the statement of R. W. Mills, Mrs. Mills' husband at Kansas City that it is "absolute nonsense."

Mrs. Mills had taken dinner with Mrs. H. L. Stevens wife of the man whose name is the same as that appearing on the check found by the saloon man. She is supposed to have lost the money that evening after leaving the Stevens home, which is in the suburb of Evanston several miles north of the spot where the check was found.

In the purse also were a number of newspaper clippings recounting real estate offers, some of which had been checked off. Mrs. Mills is in the real estate business in San Antonio, Texas, her home.

AN EXCELLENT MEASURE.

Washington, March 7.—An important measure, reported favorably by the naval committee in the last Congress was the bill introduced by Mr. Childs entitled "A bill providing that any competent officer of the United States navy, who shall be nominated by the Secretary of the Navy for the approval of the President, with two other competent persons appointed by the President, shall constitute a commission to be known as the Labrador Current and Gulf Stream Commission, defining its powers and duties, and making an appropriation for its expenses." This commission, when appointed, is to serve without compensation and one of its most important duties is to make a close study of the Labrador current with a view of preventing by the adoption of suitable measures, the encroachment of icebergs upon the course traveled by trans-Atlantic steamships.

DELAWARE LED FLEET IN GUN PRACTICE

Washington, March 7.—The battleship Delaware won the coveted first position in eliminator practice with guns and torpedoes combined last year with a total score of 46,020 for the past calendar year.

The other battleships included in the honor list of the first 10 of the Atlantic fleet were the Florida, 43,184; Idaho, 42,555; Michigan, 39,810; North Dakota, 35,144; Connecticut, 34,811; Louisiana 34,565; Missouri, 33,876; New Hampshire, 33,708, and Utah 30,997.

The Georgia stood at the foot of the list of 25 ships for combined practice, with a score of 9,302.

PORTSMOUTH SCENERY TO BE SHOWN.

The scenic back ground of the New Hampshire Hotel mens booth at the National Travelers Exhibit in the Crystal Palace, New York, will be a view taken for the Portsmouth book last summer. The picture was taken from the top of the piazza of the Hotel Wentworth showing a broad view of the islands and water, Newcastle, the river, and the navy yard and city in the distance. The picture will be painted on the back ground of the booth.

In this same exhibit Portsmouth will be well advertised as the Board of Trade have voted $100 and Manager Patten of the Buckingham has also contributed largely. Several hundred of the Portsmouth books will be distributed and several thousand post cards of local views.

FINDS DEATH FOR FRUIT PEST

Honolulu, March 7.—Dr. Silvester, an entomologist sent by the Hawaiian Territorial Board of Agriculture to make a search in different parts of the world for a parasite to destroy the fruit pest, known as the Mediterranean fly, rabid yesterday from Cape Town that he would return with a supply at once via Australia.

For years the Mediterranean fly has been a curse upon the fruit industry of Hawaii. All shipments of fresh fruits to American ports are prohibited by strict quarantine laws for fear the pest will be communicated to the mainland. The search for an effective parasite has been going on for years.

MRS. WOODROW WILSON'S DEBUT AS "FIRST LADY."

Washington, March 7.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson made her debut in the role of first lady of the land last evening in the patronage of a semi-public meeting. As honorary chairman of the Women's Democratic League she attended a lecture at the league headquarters, given by Dr. J. A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines. Dr. Holmes discussed the question of the safety devices for the conservation of life and the scientific construction of mines.

WON'T FOOT DENTAL BILLS FOR JACKIES

Washington, March 7.—If a sailor of the United States navy has the toothache and the government's dentist is busy, he must continue to suffer unless he is willing to foot the bill of a private dentist. Comptroller of the Treasury Trueswell today advised the secretary of the navy that the expenses for dental treatment of enlisted men cannot be legally paid by the government when the services of a naval dental officer are not available.

Let Postum Cheer This Lucky Year '13

Ever stop to think that we make most of our own troubles?

That wrong living causes more doctor bills than epidemics?

Wave away the nervous, bilious, fretful days of coffee drinking by a change to

INSTANT POSTUM

A great many coffee drinkers found out the value of Postum by actual test in 1912. More will in 1913.

This delicious beverage tastes much like mild Java, but is guaranteed absolutely pure and free from "caffeine," the harmful, trouble-making drug in coffee.

Grocers everywhere sell more and more Postum every year.
